SATURDAY......FEBRUARY 14, 1880

The Republican Party in Virginia. The Valley Virginian characterizes General Manone's proposition to run an independent electoral ticket in Virginia as "the ildest political movement ever suggested." The same paper appeals "to Republicans to stand to their colors, and fight under the banner which represents their principles." This latter it does after announcing that the Souther'n Intelligencer, a " little tomtit politi cians " [Conservatives] "who run the machine" to make terms with General MAHO NE while they can.

The Republican party is in much greater danger of disintegration than is the Conservative party. Soon after the November election was over, and it had come to light that so many of the negroes had voted with the Readjusters, we saw that the Republican party was in danger of going to pieces. On the 4th of December we said :

"We go en to usk what is to become of the Republican party? Whence are to come the voters that up to November last made up that organization? It is none of our fight now. It has passed over from the Referred.

Conservative to the Republican party. The By same Conservative party is essentially a white

"The new party must necessarily be com-posed lergely of negroes. The new party and the Republican party may light for the negro vote. As for us, we shall stand upon the old ways."

At that time the Republicans were "laughing all over" at the prospect of a permanent division in the ranks of the Conservative party. They had no idea when they declared that "somebody's foot was burning" that it was "the foot" of the Republican party. At that time, too, it was supposed that nearly all the leading Debt-Payers rather than with the Read- ferred. justers. The Southern Intelligencer had not then come out for an alliance with Genersi Manone. We merely accepted the logic of events as an indicator of what was to come in the near future.

Now, how stands the case? The negroein Richmond seem to be almost equally divided between the Republicans and the Readjusters. In vain do the white managers for SHERMAN and BLAINE try to recall them te their allegiance. General Manone is to Sambo, if not "a bigger man than old GRANT," at eny rate a bigger man than any of the "tomtit politicians" of the Republican party in Virginia. Throughout the State the same condition of rebellion against of certain streets. the wire-workers of the Republican party the negroes of this city, and from the course city of Winchester. of the thirteen negroes in the General Assembly. These black allies of the Readjusters appear to be well pleased with their new party associates and manifest no disposition to return to their allegiance to the Republican party. If they know and correctly represent the feeling of the negroes at home, then much more confidently can we say now than we said last December that it is none of our fight. "It has passed over from the Conservative to the Republican party." And as the Conservative party is essentially a white man's party, the Democratic electors will receive the votes of nearly all the white men, and leave the
